

Download Crafting And Executing Strategy

It is often claimed that 50-90% of strategic initiatives fail. Although these claims have had a significant impact on management theory and practice, they are controversial. The problem discussed in this dissertation is to gather evidence of good practice and derive strategy for the development of ICT access in rural Zambia. Access to ICT services is important, also in rural areas of Africa. The challenges are many.